HOW TO OPEN A BOOK.

From "Modern Bookbinding."

Hold the book with its back on a smooth or covered table; let the front board down, then the other, holding the leaves in one hand while you open a few leaves at the back, then a few at the front, and so on, alternately opening back and front, gently pressing open the sections till you reach the center of the volume. Do this two or three times and you will obtain the best results. Open the volume violently or carelessly in any one place and you will likely break the back and cause a start in the leaves. Never force the back of the book.

PREFACE.

The original intention of the compiler was to collect for pleasure, information relating to his ancestry. Though the name of Noblit is comparatively rare, it was found that a number of families existed in this country, bearing variations of the name and not directly connected. As considerable data had been collected here and abroad, during several years of research and correspondence, it was decided to publish the entire collection for the purpose of preservation. With the exception of a few instances, no attempt has been made to arrange the matter in proper genealogical form. This, with the aid of the index, is left to the individual.

Believing that the knowledge of the present generation, concerning their origin and family, is most important to be preserved, abstracts of letters received have been printed. It is worthy of note that in these letters the tradition of Huguenot descent seems universal. The compiler hopes that others may become interested and add to this collection. The blank pages at the end of the volume are for the addition of notes and family records.

EXTRACT FROM LETTER OF N. WEISS, SECRETARY, SOCIÉTÉ DE L'HISTOIRE DU PROTESTANTISME FRANÇAIS, PARIS.

One Matthieu Noblet, engraver, lived in Paris between 1640 and 1680; his wife was Marie Leclerc; they had a daughter Marie, 16—, and two sons, Samuel, 1646, Michel, 166—. In the year 1693 Marie was placed in a convent, and as she refused to become a Roman Catholic, was sent out of the Kingdom in 1694.

Another engraver, perhaps a brother of Matthieu, named Michel Noblet, is said to have been the son of Pierre Noblet, a watchmaker of Geneva, and of his wife Marie Zacharie. Michel Noblet married in Paris, July, 1660, Esther Royer.

Another Noblet, whose wife was a Brunel, left France at the time of the Revocation.

One Louise Noblet fled to the Island of Jersey.

Other Noblets lived in Rouen. One Jacques Noblet was imprisoned, escaping to Holland in 1684, with his wife and a daughter two years old.

In Holland, on the registers of the French-speaking Walloon churches, there are more than forty entries of persons bearing the name of "Noblet." Some lived in Amsterdam and came from Rouen.

MICHEL LE NOBLETZ.

Missionnaire français, né le 29 septembre 1577, au château de Kerodren près Plouguerneau, mort au Conquet, le 5 mai 1652. Il commença ses études à Bordeaux, et les acheva à Agen, chez les jésuites. Le 30 septembre 1598, il fit profession à Quimper dans la Compagnie de Jésus, et dès lors se livra à la prédication; il apprit les langues grecque et hébraïque, afin de pouvoir expliquer les écritures dans leur textes primitifs. Le Nobletz possédait surtout un grand penchant vers le mysticisme. Il se fit bâtir une petite cellule sur le bord de la mer, à Tremenach, et là il s'imposa toutes les privations et les austérités qu'un corps humain peut endurer. Toujours revêtu d'un cilice, chaque nuit, dit son biographe, il ne cessait de se frapper qu'inondé de sang. Ces excentricités religieuses le firent facilement passer pour un prédestiné parmi les populations ignorantes et dévotes de la Bretagne, mais les dominicains de Morlaix crurent devoir le chasser de leur monastère, à la suite d'un scandale qui attira à Le Nobletz "une peine bien cruelle et bien honteuse, puisque son biographe (M. Levot) ajoute que plusieurs criminels lui préféreraient la mort." Le Nobletz n'en continua pas moins à prêcher la foi catholique dans la basse Bretagne et dans les îles l'Ouessant, de Molène, de Batz, etc. Il fut souvent expulsé par le clergé régulier, qui ne demeurerait pas convaincu des conversions éclatantes, des miracles, des prophéties que la crédulité publique attribuait à ce nouvel apôtre, resté au surplus en très-grande vénération dans son pays. On a de Le Nobletz: un Journal de ses Missions; Paris, 1666, 1668, in-8°, et Lyon, 1836, 2 vols. in 12,—De l'Union de la volonté humaine avec la volonté divine, etc. publié par Dan.-Louis Miorcec de Kerdanet; Brest, 1841, in-18.

Octobre 10 - 04.

Monsieur

J' ai été empêché par une longue absence de donner une réponse à votre lettre du 8 avril dernier.

Je suis à même de vous donner directement les renseignements sur l'historique de la famille Noblet (Bourgogne). Mais si vous desirez en avoir connaissance d'autre part, vous pouviez faire consulter le " Livre Généalogique " de d'Hozier, qui traite cette question jusque dans le règne de Louis XV.

D'un autre côté, le V<sup>te</sup> de Royer, 8 rue Clément Marot, Paris, qu'on désigne le "Gotha Français," est en train de publier un grand ouvrage sur les familles de France. Vous pouviez peut-être le consulter.

Croyez à mes sentiments distingués.

PARIS, le 21 Avril, 1904.

À Mr. Noblit, 1319 Nord Broad Street,
Philadelphia, U.S.A.

Monsieur,

Suivant votre honore du 8 dernier, reçu hier, vous me demandez de vous mettre en relation avec une personne connaissant la famille Noblet. Je consens à vous donner les renseignements, à ma connaissance, sur la mienne, ignorant si c'est bien de notre famille qui vous concerne. Je suis le fils unique de M. Isidore Noblet, natif à Millemont, de mon grand Père Noblet qui eut dix enfants, de deux lits.

De ces dix enfants aucun ne survit plus ; il ne reste donc pour quelques uns que des enfants ou petits enfants, dispersés partout.

J'ai entendu dire à mon père que deux de ses frères s'étaient expatriés, mais comme lui-même était beaucoup plus jeune que ses frères et sœurs aînés, et que je suis venu au monde vingt ans après le mariage de mon père, je n'ai connu ces détails qu'incidemment et d'une façon peu approfondie. Aussi si cela a pu vous intéresser, vous voudrez bien me donner les détails nécessaires et aussi les motifs, et je me tiens à votre disposition pour faire les recherches à la mairie de Millemont.

Agréez, Monsieur, l'assurance de ma parfaite considération.

PARIS, le 27 Mai, 1904.

Monsieur,

Les actes établissant la généalogie de ma famille ne remontent qu'à 1680, époque à laquelle vivaient trois frères dont je n'ai pu retrouver la généalogie antérieure à cette date.

Habitant tous les trois des villages voisins situés dans le département de l'Aube, sur la ligne du chemin de fer de Paris à Belfort à 210 Kilomètres de Paris, ils se marièrent et eurent de nombreuses familles. Quelques uns de leurs descendants allèrent s'établir en dehors des villages qui les avait vu naître et échappent ainsi à mes recherches.

Je ne puis donc, à mon grand regret, établir quels liens existent entre vos ancêtres et les miens, les actes antérieurs à 1674 ayant été détruits ou n'ayant jamais existé. Si plus tard il m'était donné d'avoir de nouveaux renseignements, je vous les communiquerai.

Veuillez agréer, Monsieur,

Mes civilités,

DR. NOBLET.

L'industrie est aujourd'hui moins prospère à Longjumeau qu'elle ne le fut jadis, et l'abandon de la grande route d'Orléans par suite de la construction du chemin de fer ne fut pas sans nuire à son commerce; elle est devenue plutôt un centre de villégiature calme et fort agréable, grâce à son joli site.

RENNES. Ancient Condate. A city of France, capital of the Department of Ille-et-Vilaine, agreeably situated on the acclivity and at the foot of a hill on the Canal of Ille and Rance, at the confluence of the Ille and Vilaine, sixty miles north of Nantes. Latitude  $48^{\circ} 7' N.$  Longitude  $1^{\circ} 41'' W.$  It is traversed from east to west by the Vilaine, which divides it into the high and low town, and is crossed by three bridges. The latter, the smaller of the trio, on the left bank, is so low as to often suffer from inundation. It is very poorly built. The houses in it are mostly of wood and the streets are narrow and winding.

The high town lies between the right bank of the Vilaine and the left bank of the Ille, and strikingly contrasts with the low town, by the elegance of its buildings and its spacious, elegant streets. It owes its present improved condition to a conflagration in 1720, which raged for seven days and laid the greater part of the high town in ashes. The same event, however, which has thus given it the appearance of a handsome modern town, has deprived it of much of its historical interest by destroying almost all its ancient edifices.

It has a cathedral, academy, a botanic garden, a school of artillery, an arsenal, a seminary, schools of law and medicine, a normal school and library of 45,000 volumes. It has a tribunal of commerce, an extensive trade in butter, honey, wax and linen goods, tanneries and manufactures of gloves, paper, sail cloth, hats, farina, etc. It has also a national college or lycée. Du Duescelin and Lanjuinais were born here. Population in 1891, 69,232.

"PLEADINGS & DEPOSITIONS IN THE DUCHY COURT OF LANCASTER, TIME OF HENRY VIII."

Ralph, Prior of Lethom (Lytham) Monastery, versus Thomas Boteler, Dame Margaret Butler, His Mother, and others, regarding Title to Lands and Waste Ground in Lethom (Lytham) Monastery, Much Latin. 24 Henry VIII (1532).

Depositions of plaintiff.

George Noblet, of Warton, aged 60 years and more, tenant to the Earl of Derby, says that Edmund Noblet, his father, was bailiff to the Prior of Lathom when deponent was about 14 years old, and he well remembers that when Master Butler's tenants of Laton drove their cattle past the cross in the Hawes towards Lethom, that his said father drove them back again until they had passed the said cross. When the said Prior was unable to drive back the said cattle by reason of the multitude of Mr. Butler's servants and tenants, he sent 2 priests with the sacrament, and so drove the cattle past the said cross. The said cross in the hawes has always been taken to be the boundary which divided the lordship of Latom and the lordship of Lethom both by sea and land. The said Prior and his predecessors have ever been and yet are seised of the fishing of the water of the sea, "anendes" the said cross towards Lethom, and Mr. Butler's tenants upon the other side towards Laton. Before the last commission, at Easter last, witness never heard of any man being killed at the said cross. (Publications of the Record Society, Vol. XXXV.)

"THE FFRECHAPPELL CALLED MAGDALENE NERE PRESTON."

The Free Chapel, dedicated to St. Mary Magdalene, was annexed to a small hospital in Preston mentioned in the Lincoln Taxation in the year 1291.

The King had nominated an Incumbent on the 6th February 1522, probably as patron, in right of the Duchy of Lancaster, as at that time all the religious foundations were held sacred, and the Crown had the patronage here of a small monastery of the Grey Friars, founded by Henry Duke of Lancaster, and described by Leland as the burial place of many of the Sherburnes and Daltons. The hospital and chapel fell with the lesser foundations.

On the 6th August 1544 it is recited in a lease of this date that James Walton the elder of Preston, Gentleman, had lately taken of one Sir Thomas Barlowe, Clerk, four acres of land within the franchises of Preston in a close called the Dewe Bank in the holding of Richard Kendal the elder of Preston, Yeoman, as parcel of the glebe lands of the late Free Chapel or Prebend of St. Mary Mawdelyn within the parish, as by writing under the seal of the said Sir Thomas Barlowe, dated 6th June 36 Henry VIII (1554), plaintiff appeared: and on the said 6th August 1544, Walton leased the said land called the Dewe Bank for twenty one years to the said Richard Kendal, at the yearly rent of 5s 2d; another parcel of the Maudlands to William Noblett of Ingoll, husbandman, for the same term, rent 7s. 7d.; also three closes thereof to Henry Gregson sen. of Elston for the same term, rent 32s.

LETTER OF REV. WILLIAM NOBLET, B.D., SHEERNESS-ON-SEA, KENT, ENGLAND.

St. Paul's Vicarage,
Sheerness-on-Sea,
Kent.

DEAR SIR:

April 16, 1904.

Your enquiries re Noblet, Noblett, etc., etc., received this morning. I fear I can give you very little information of the family history you seek. My grandfather's ancestors it is believed were refugees from France, perhaps Huguenot, and settled in the village of Wrea-green near Kirkham, Lancashire. He was a brilliant, intelligent little man, the wit & humorist of the village. Many stories are related of him in Porter's "History of the Fylde," if you could obtain a copy, though I fear they are out of print now. My father, his eldest son John, was apprenticed to a joiner, but on becoming a journeyman found the pace too slow for him, and he became a produce merchant, purchasing heavily Irish goods from Belfast and Londonderry, and shipping them off up country to the towns of Bolton, Preston and Manchester. He too was short in stature, but very intelligent and well read on the topics of his day. He was very reticent about any family records and says his father's father settled in North Lancashire as a young man. There was a family of Noblets to whom my father was own cousin at Blackpool in Lancashire. There seems to be at present quite a settlement of different branches of the Noblet family in North West Lancashire. A nephew, who is a representative of the American Shipping Line in Paris, tells me that one of the first things he saw in the city was a large van bearing the name and business of "Noblet Carrier." A friend of mine on a visit to Switzerland came across an excellent photographer by the name of Noblet. All this I think points to the authenticity of the tradition that the ancestors of the family of Noblet had their origin in France. I have never heard of any one bearing the name Noblet living in Ireland, though I am better acquainted with the north west than any other part, and this is where staunch Protestants abound. Though a clergyman of the Church of England my sympathies have always been on the side of Evangelical Protestantism.

It is said I inherit much of the temper and spirit of my progenitors, being excitable and easily roused to enthusiasm on any cause, which commends itself in my opinion as being worthy of support. And my friends tell me that I am quite a Frenchman in disposition, etc., etc.

I fear I have been able to give you very little information of any worth except perhaps confirming tradition that we are of a French origin.

If ever you are in this country and in our neighbourhood, which is on the South Eastern Railway on the way between London and Dover en route to Paris, we shall be pleased to give you a few days' hospitality in our humble way.

Believe me

Yours very sincerely,

Bill. 3 December 1649. By John Grove of Neeve, co. Salop, yeoman, v. John Noblett. About April 1640 the complainant was seized of a mansion house in Devereux, co. Hereford, which he had acquired by mortgage from Joan Pierpointe, widow, and others. He was infirm and illiterate, and had no issue, both he and his wife being well stricken in years, so, at his wife's persuasion, he had conference about the managing of his property with one Thomas Noblett, late of Stotesdon, co. Salop, (since deceased) yeoman, his wife's nephew, having a purpose to bestow the greatest part of what they had at their death upon him. Divers deeds were accordingly executed, remaining now in the hands of John Noblett, brother and heir of the said Thomas. (Chancery Proceedings. Collins 104. Public Record Office, London.)

LETTER OF WILLIAM NOBLETT. The Vicarage, Ballygar, Roscommon, Ireland, April 22, 1904.

My son has forwarded to me your letter in which you desire information about the Noblett family. The history of our family, as I have heard it, is that we are of French origin, the name being still spelled with one "t" in France. The motto also being French, namely, "Loyale au Mors," which seems to be pretty true of the family; the crest is a small pennant, thus (sketch of crest); some make it like one of the old short swords, bent as if bent in conflict. This commends itself more to my mind. The family, on leaving France, settled in England and became connected with some of the best families by marriage. After several vicissitudes, NOTE: See will of George Harvey, of Bristol, 1710, under Somersetshire, England, for reference to Ireland.

our branch, consisting of five brothers, came to Ireland, three going to the north and two to the south, and it is with the Nobletts of the south of Ireland that my family is connected. You have thus a brief account of the history of our family as I have received it by tradition, and I hope it may prove useful to you.

LETTER OF WILHELM A. L. NOBLETT, 54 London Street, Mountpottinger, Belfast, Ireland, May 2, 1904.

In reply to your letter of inquiry addressed to my late father, Mr. A. Noblett, 45 Rushfield Avenue, I beg to state that the only information I can give you dates back to the time of my late grandfather, who was born somewhere in the county of Wexford, Ireland, about the year 1795. Where his family originally descended from I could not say. My grandfather and his only brother had some difference of opinion and separated on the highway and never met afterwards. My grandfather's father came to Dublin, where he reared a large family, some of whom I am about to correspond with on the subject. I will inquire from my late father's eldest brother in the west of Ireland, and should he be able to enlighten me on the subject, I shall let you know. Personally I am of the opinion that the family originally hailed from France about the time of the Revolution.

LETTER OF MISS KATE NOBLETT, 132 Pershore Road, Edgbaston, Birmingham, England, Nov. 21, 1904.

In reply to your letter regarding "the Noblett Family," I find we are descendants from French refugees, who fled to England; our branch of the family went over to Ireland with William, Prince of Orange, and fought against King James. The Noblett crest is a horse's head. I intended to write and ask my brother, but I have neglected to do so.

I venture to say I am the only Noblett in Birmingham. I am "Irish."

LETTERS FROM MRS. MARGARET NOBLETT, of 31 Curzon Street, South Circular Road, Dublin, Ireland.

Dated May 10th and July 10th, 1906.

I am the widow of the late Thomas Noblett, of this city. I have four children—one son and three daughters. My husband's family came from County Wicklow. His father died when the children were very young, and the mother came to Dublin; she had four sons and one daughter. Her husband's name was John; he had two brothers, William and Joshua, who went to America. Joshua returned, but William remained in America. The names of Mrs. Noblett's children were John, Joseph, Thomas, Joshua and Mary Anne. Mrs. Noblett was a Miss Williams. She lived at a place called the Murrow, in Wicklow. They also lived at Franklin Lane, Rathdrum. The children were all christened in Rathdrum Church. Mrs. Noblett died about twenty-nine years ago, and the old uncle, Joshua, died before Mrs. Noblett; he was nearly eighty years of age. Mrs. Noblett had a sister, a Mrs. Neeson, also from the Murrow, in Wicklow, who went to America. My son's name is William John. He went to America about ten years ago.

LETTER FROM JOSEPH NOBLETT, 50 Lower Beechwood Avenue, Ranelagh, Dublin. Dated June 1, 1906.

I am the youngest of a family of fifteen. All the others are now deceased. We are of the County Carlow, and partly from County Wexford, near the Carlow County line. I have just before me the old family Bible of my father, also Joseph, in which the fly leaves are filled with his writings. He was born in 1817, and was also the youngest, some of his brothers and sisters going abroad. His father's name was Thomas, who died in 1838, and his grandfather Joseph was very old when he died, in 1833. The latter was my great-grandfather.

The names you mention are family names, as they have been both my brothers' and uncles'. I will, after a short time, be down in Carlow, and may get more names and dates, which I will let you have.

William Noblit, of Middletown Township, Chester
County, Pennsylvania

William Noblit purchased land in Middletown in 1729, although his name did not appear on the tax lists until 1732. John Noblit, of Newtown; Richard Noblit, of Middletown, and Francis Noblit (who witnessed the will of David Thomas, of Newtown, in 1734), are believed to have been brothers of William Noblit. William Noblit was a member of the vestry of St. Paul's Church, Chester, 1751 to 1753, and in 1759. He owned lands in Aston Township, and was for many years the proprietor of what is now called the Black Horse Inn of Middletown.<sup>5</sup>

In 1763, Joshua Bean<sup>6</sup> rented the tavern from William Noblit. It seems probable that in this way he became

<sup>5</sup> It is not known when the inn received the name of the Black Horse. It was so designated in 1787 by Richard Cheyney, a proprietor.

<sup>6</sup> Joshua Bean, a resident of Whiteland Township, Chester County, and "Catrenah Cothbert" were married May 8, 1751, at Old Swedes' Church, Philadelphia. John Cuthbert, referred to in footnote above, by will dated August 20, 1772, mentioned his eldest daughter, Catharine Bean.

indebted to William Noblit, and the latter, being involved in financial difficulties, brought suit against Bean, in consequence of which the sheriff seized and sold a house and one acre of ground in East Whiteland to John Pierce, of Concord, by deed of August 24, 1772. By deed of September 30, 1772, the sheriff and John Pierce conveyed the same property to William Noblit. William Noblit, "of Chester joyner," and (blank) his wife, mortgaged this house and land to George and Jonathan Hunter, December 27, 1776, for fifty pounds, which mortgage was acknowledged by William Noblit and recorded February 3, 1777. The mortgage money not being paid, the property was sold by the sheriff and conveyed to Jonathan Hunter, November 20, 1787. Thus it appears that William Noblit left no estate of value at his death.

After his third marriage, William Noblit seems to have resided for a time in Philadelphia; in 1767 he was living on Fourth Street, near Chestnut.*

A remonstrance, dated November 19th, 1739, was presented on the 27th of that month, representing

That Your Petitioners are Informed that William Noblet, an Inhabitant of this town, hath, and doth further Intend to Petition to You, Either for a Recommendation to the Governor for Keeping a house of Entertainment or for licence to Sell Beer & Syder. Now we Your Petitioners beg Leave to Inform You that there is no Need of Either, for there being two all Ready one on the same Road not above a mile and half from him, viz. William Hill, and the Other being on Darby Road, with In a mile of him that is Charles Crosley and we further Conceive that Where there is no Need of such a Publick hous to admitt of one to be Set up there will Prove to be of Great Damage to that Neighbourhood, Where Such a one is Set up, because the man that keeps the house finding that he Cant Live by Keeping Good orders by Reason of the Smallness of his Custom is many times led to admit of bad Orders by Entertaining Servants, Minors and Other Weeke People, Masters of families to the Damage of their Masters, Parents and families

Which we Doubt will be to much the Case of the said Wm:
Noblet

We therefore humbly Desire that You will take it Into Your Prudent Consideration and not admit the s<sup>d</sup> Noblet to have any Recommendation from you for Keeping the Said Hous, and We your Petitioners as In Duty Bound Shall Ever Pray &c.

William Noblit's petition for license in 1739 was granted and renewed each year afterward until 1753.

On the 28th of August, 1759, he again presented his application with the following explanation:

"That your Honours have been pleased for many Years Successively to Grant your Petitioner Recommendation to the Governor of this Province for Lycence to keep a Publick House of Entertainment in the said Township of Middletown for the Selling of Wine Brandy Rum Beer
Cyder and other Strong Liquors. That your Petitioner hath for these few years past declined keeping a Publick House on account of a Agreement made between him and Joseph Talbot concerning the Sale of his Cyder &c, the time of which agreement is now Expired, and the said Joseph absolutely refuses to renew the same, but is willing that your Petitioner should apply to your Honours for another Recommendation in order to keep a Publick House as formerly. That your Petitioner hath very good Conveniences and hath provided himself with every thing necessary to carry on that Business in a good and reputable manner."

This was signed by thirty-four of his neighbors. A remonstrance signed by thirty others failed to prevent the grant of a renewed license, and William Noblit continued to keep a public house until 1763.

At the Court of Quarter Sessions held August 30th, 1763, "The Petition of Joshua Bean of the Township of Middletown in the said County

Humbly Sheweth,

That your Petitioner hath sometime ago Rented the Messuage or Tenement and Plantation Situate in Middletown aforesaid where William Noblitt hath for many years last past kept a publick House of Entertainment.

That your Petitioner hath an inclination to follow that Business in the same place, and for that purpose hath procured every thing necessary for the keeping a publick House in a Genteel and reputable manner."

Forty-one persons signed his recommendation, and among them was Richard Noblit. The application was successful, but was not renewed the following year.

THE BLACK HORSE INN.

The following account of the Black Horse Inn and its proprietors is taken from Ashmead's History of Delaware County:

“ William Noblit had license continuously from 1739 to the year 1763 although his name does not appear on the list of licenses from 1754 to 1758,* both years inclusive; but inasmuch as his name occurs again in 1759 to 1762, in all probabilities, during the five years before mentioned he had license granted to him. In 1763 as stated in the account of Hill's tavern, one or other of the names there given—Thomas Caldwell or Joshua Bean—had charge of the house, while in 1764 Thomas Carrell or Carvell, was ‘ mine host.’ In 1765 Nathan Edwards (who on August 31, 1742, asked for license on the ‘ Great Road from the Valley to Chester ’ and whose signers on that occasion represented that ‘ the Public houses near him on the said road for a considerable time have been disorderly kept, as we are informed to the general dissatisfaction of the neighborhood ’ without however obtaining Edwards the license sought), became the landlord of the tavern and continued so until 1783, in which year Ezekiel Leonard assumed the business, and remained there until he became sheriff of Chester County in the Fall of 1786, when he was succeeded by Richard Cheyney whose petition in 1787 for the first time presents the now familiar name ‘ Black Horse,’ as the title of the inn. Cheyney was licensed the following year, and in 1789 Benjamin Johnson prayed for and was granted the right to keep there a public house. Johnson continued here until 1792, when he gave place to Joseph Gibbons. In 1793 James Pennell had license from the court of Delaware County for the ‘ Black Horse ’ and again in the following year 1794, when he died.

“ This James Pennell had previous to his removal to Middletown, kept tavern in Chester, and respecting his death, Mrs. Rebecca Brobson of Chester, who died in 1863, at a very advanced age, used to relate the following particulars: While a resident of the latter place, as an attraction for the public, he kept a tiger, that he had taught to perform a number of tricks, and as the creature was apparently docile, he had no fear of the animal. This unusual spectacle, at a time when there were no monstrous travelling shows to entertain the masses, drew many persons to Pennell's tavern, and frequently the owner of the beast could be seen exhibiting to a crowd of gaping rustics how tractable it was and how promptly it obeyed his commands. Pennell when he became the landlord of the Black Horse, took the animal with him and continued the exhibition. One day, while showing the people his entire control of the tiger, he forced it to do many tricks over and over, until it became enraged, and springing upon Pennell, it tore him with its claws so badly before it could be driven back, that the unfortunate man died a few hours thereafter.

* It will be seen from the petition made by William Noblit to the Court in 1759, that he had “ for these few years past declined keeping a Publick House.”

"In 1795 his widow, Lydia Pennell, received the license, and annually thereafter until 1802, when she intermarried with David Esbin who in that year became the landlord. The following year the house was kept by Elizabeth Vernon, who remained there until 1806, when George Pearson was 'mine host' of the Black Horse, to be succeeded in 1808 by James Fairlamb, and he in the following year had the license transferred to Frederick James. In 1811 James Hansley was the landlord, and in 1813 John Clayton had the court's approval, while in the following year Jacob Pyle did the honors of the house, and in 1816 Reuben Taylor was his successor.

"The Black Horse Tavern in 1817 was presided over by Sarah and George Hawkins, and they in 1820 gave place to George Irwin. The latter in 1822 was followed by George Malin. The central position the venerable inn occupied made it a point where frequently public assemblages were had to discuss important political and county topics, and it may be asserted that no tavern within the limits of Delaware County was better known than that in Middletown. In 1835 Hickman Myers became the landlord and he in 1839 gave place to George Russell, Jr. During the time that Russell was mine host of the Black Horse it was brought if possible into greater prominence, for here in November, 1845, a meeting was held to take into consideration the propriety of removing the seat of justice to a more central position, and on the mooted point of selecting a proper location, 'the Black Horse in Middletown,' the highest elevation in the county, was strongly urged as the proper site of the local capitol. Russell died in 1847, and the following year, Martha Ann Russell his widow received the license. In 1849 Malin Bishop kept the house and continued there until 1856, when Allen Chandler became the landlord to be followed in 1858 by Samuel S. McCall. George W. Hill superseded McCall in 1864, and in 1866, when Mr. Lyons purchased the property, Hill transferred the license to Edgar C. Lyons. In 1867 the hotel was controlled by Lyons and Ford, Edgar C. Lyons having associated with him in the business James E. Ford, but in the latter part of the year 1870 Ford retired, since which time Edgar C. Lyons has been the landlord of the noted Black Horse Hotel."

June 3, 1762.

WHEREAS William Noblit hath advertised for Sale, by way of public Vendue, on the 22d Day of this Inst. June, a Tract of Land in Middletown, Chester county, containing 150 Acres; but hath omitted to acquaint the Public, that he is not able to make a good Title to 100 Acres thereof: And therefore I think it my Duty thus to give Notice, that the said 100 Acres is really the Property of Ann Marsh, of the City of Philadelphia, and her Sister, my Wife (who are the only Heirs of Joseph Allibone, deceased, for whom, said Land was located and paid for) who are determined to take proper Measure to recover their Right.

June 17, 1762.

ALTHO Mr. Aaron Ashbridge has publickly advertised, and cautioned all Persons not to purchase 100 Acres of the Subscriber's Tract of Land, for that his Wife, and one Ann Marsh, are the only Heirs of Joseph Allebone, under whom I claim; and that he intends to prosecute at Law very speedily for Recovery of his pretended Right: All who know this same Mr. Ashbridge, never took him for an Ideot, Fool or Madman, and in one or other of those Characters he must have appeared, to have permitted me, and those under whom I claim, quietly and peaceably to possess this Land upwards of Seventy Years past. But the Law regards Infants also; perhaps he is in his Minority, and when he will arrive at legal Age, he will please to inform the Publick. Upon the whole, I will sell the Lands, and warrant the Purchaser a good, legal and sufficient Title to the same.

December 10, 1767.

To be sold by the subscriber, A plantation in Middletown, Chester Co. about 6 miles from Chester and 17 from Philadelphia, is a very pleasant situation, late the estate of WILLIAM NOBLIT; it lies on the road leading from Chester to Lancaster; there are 150 acres of good land, about one half cleared, and within good fence, the rest well timbered; also about 10 acres of good meadow, a good stone house, well finished, four rooms on a floor and a fire place in each, a large stone kitchen, with a well of good water, at the door, two orchards of best grafted fruit trees, sufficient to make 200 bbls., of cider in a year, and very good cider works, also a good barn, stables, sheds and other out buildings, it has been a noted tavern for many years and had very good custom; it will be sold on easy terms, and if not sold by the first of March next, it will be rented and may be entered on the 25th or sooner. For further particulars enquire of the subscriber in Lombard St., bet. Front and Second streets, near the new market.

THOMAS CUTHBERT

N. B. Whereas Mr. Aaron Ashbridge of Chester county in the year 1762, did advertise in this paper No. 1747, that 100 acres of the above land was really the property of Anne Marsh of the city of Philadelphia and her sister his wife, who were determined to take proper measures to recover the same, but I believe have thought better of it since and have thought proper to let it alone; much might be said on the conduct of Mr. Ashbridge, relating to that place, but that I shall leave to another person, who I believe will not quietly put up with the usage he has met with; however upon the whole, as the place has now fell into my hands, I will warrant and defend the said 100 acres of land against Mr. Ashbridge's wife, Mrs. Anne Marsh and their heirs forever.

John Noblit, of Ridley Township.

JOHN NOBLIT, second son of William Noblit, of Middletown Township, Chester County (now Delaware County), Penna., was born about 1734-36 * in Middletown Township, was first on list of taxables in Middletown in 1758; removed to Aston Township before 1771, returned to Middletown before 1778, removed to Ridley 1784, where he died in 1786.

Children of John and Elizabeth Noblit:

1. John Noblit, of Darby, born March 13, 1761; died 1855. Married Mary Boon. Of whom later.
2. William Noblit, of Dauphin County, Pennsylvania, born September 30, 1762; died 1820 or 1821. Married, first, Margaret Thompson; married, second, Eva Wilt. Further record later.
3. Mary Noblit, born August 10, 1764; died April 13, 1829. Married June 16, 1788, Caleb Bonsall,† of Darby Township, Delaware County, and had issue: John; Israel, born 11 mo. 28, 1790; Jonathan S.; Mary Ann; Elizabeth; Caleb, born 2 mo. 7, 1799; Mary, born 2 mo. 14, 1801; Amy, born 2 mo. 10, 1803, and Reuben, born 1 mo. 28, 1805.
4. Thomas Noblit, of Delaware County and City of Philadelphia, born September 18, 1766; died September 30, 1850. Married, first, Elizabeth Kerlin; married, second, Ann Pearce. Further account later.

* Martin's History of Chester, page 249, states that John Noblit was born in 1714, and was aged sixty-three years when his son Dell was born. It seems questionable whether he was born so early. This would make his age forty-five years at marriage. The same history errs in stating that John Noblit's wife was named Mary.

† "Caleb Bonsall, eldest son of Jonathan, was married, 6 mo. 16, 1788, to Mary Noblitt, daughter of John and Elizabeth Noblitt. His death occurred 4 mo. 13, 1829." (Genealogical and Personal Memoirs of Chester and Delaware Counties. Vol. II, page 30.)

DEPREDACTIONS BY THE BRITISH ARMY IN ASTON TOWNSHIP
DURING THE REVOLUTION.

In pursuance of an Act of Assembly passed the 21st of September, 1782, the Commissioners of every county of Pennsylvania that had been invaded by the British, were directed to call on the Assessors, to procure and return accounts and estimates of the damages that had been done by the enemy since the 18th of April, 1775. A large proportion of the property taken was from non-combatants, and of course was taken in violation of the usages of war among civilized nations. The amount of this plunder was enormous, and the depredations committed were so general, that but few persons in comfortable circumstances within the limits of this County escaped. The returns may be relied on for their accuracy, as they were made under the oaths or affirmations of the sufferers; but they do not embrace a full list of those who did suffer, nor the whole amount taken, as a number of Friends or Quakers refused to make any return. The returns were carefully recorded, and may be seen in the Commissioners office at West Chester. A few individual returns will be given, in full or in part, to show the inhumanity of the wretches concerned in these outrages, in stripping families of every article of household goods they possessed, even such as could be of no possible use to themselves. Following these will be an abstract of the losses sustained in most of the townships now constituting the County of Delaware.*

The above ravages occurred between the Battle of Brandywine (Sept. 11, 1777) and the massacre of Paoli (Sept. 20, 1777). The American army retreated from Brandywine, through Chester (now Delaware) County, followed by the British. Regarding this the following extracts* from the diary of Lieutenant James McMichael, of the Pennsylvania Line, are of interest:

COMMUNICATIONS FROM DESCENDANTS OF JOHN NOBLIT, OF DARBY TOWNSHIP, DELAWARE COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA.

From J. AUSTIN WORRELL, 905 North Eighth Street, Chester, Pa., June 14, 1904.

From GEORGE H. NOBLIT, 3217 Sansom Street, Philadelphia, 1904.

August 13th.—My great-grandfather, John Noblit, owned a large tract of land at what is now known as Sharon Hill, Delaware County; there is a small creek or run there which is still known as Noblit's Run. My grandfather's name was Andrew, and my father's name John Noblit. My great-grandfather, John Noblit, was a brother of Dell Noblit, of Wilmington. Until eleven years ago I lived around Glenolden, Delaware County; I was born at Sharon Hill. There are two brothers of us, George and Milton. My father (John Noblit), Thomas Noblit and a sister, Mary Noblit, were children of Andrew; my grandfather, Andrew Noblit, had a brother William, I think, who lived in Chester, Penna.

August 20th.—My great-grandfather, John Noblit, of Sharon Hill, had the following children: Hannah, who married a Mr. Powell; Rebecca, who married John Swayne; Ann, who, I think, married a Mr. Trites; Phœbe, who married Charles Marshall; John, Andrew and William. I think that John, Andrew, Rebecca, Ann and Phœbe remained around Darby Township; William and Hannah removed to Chester. Some time ago I met a Mr. Joseph Powell, of Chester, and, if I remember rightly, he said his mother was a Noblit. I should not be surprised if she was none other than Great-aunt Hannah Noblit. A relative of mine, who was a daughter of John Noblit, brother of my grandfather, Andrew Noblit, often said that the Noblits were descendants of the persecuted Huguenots of France; she died recently, aged about 75 years.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM NOBLIT, OF DAUPHIN COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA.

From NEWTON E. NOBLET, proprietor of the Halifax Shoe Company, Halifax, Penna. May 23, June 14, August 4, October 13 and November 1, 1904, respectively.

The writer of this is the oldest son of Samuel Noblet, who died about three years ago, aged 85 years, and who was the last of the children of William Noblet. He was the youngest son of William, the person of whom you made inquiry, and who came here from Delaware County, Penna., about 1793, and bought land in Halifax Township, Dauphin County. William Noblet, when he came here, was married, and his son John was by this first wife and was born on the homestead. William's first wife died soon after locating, and he married secondly Eva Wilt, by whom he had nine children: Elizabeth, who married a Mr. Bowers and remained in the neighborhood of the old homestead until her death; Sarah, Joseph, William, Thomas, Adam, Robert, George and Samuel. Of these children, all but Elizabeth and my father, Samuel, removed to Ohio and settled in the neighborhood of Bucyrus and Galion; they are all dead, my father being the last. Father remained in Halifax, serving an apprenticeship at cabinet-making with one Nicholas Boyer. He married Susan Ettien and by her had nine children, of whom five are now living, viz.: Sarah R., married to S. T. Leebrick, of this place; Elizabeth E., married to J. J. Rouch, of Harrisburg, Penna.; Samuel R., John W., and Newton E. Noblet. My father often spoke of friends who came from Delaware to visit his father, William Noblet, among them Dell Noblet. While working at his trade in Lewistown, Penna., he met an Episcopal minister of the same name, who was from Wilmington, Delaware, and who claimed relationship. The tax list of this county shows that William Noblet was a freeholder in 1794. A son and daughter of John Noblet (who was the only child of William by his first wife) are living in this vicinity. I remember several years ago that one Charles E. Noblet, from your city, was elected and served as a member of the Legislature; at that time I was serving as clerk in the Commissioners' office at Harrisburg, but did not have the pleasure of meeting him.

The daughter of John Noblet, referred to in my former letter, informs me that my grandfather, William Noblet, died when my father was about two and one-half years of age, and my grandmother when he was five or six years old. Grandmother dying so soon after grandfather the home was broken up and the children scattered, all but two of them, father and his one sister going to the State of Ohio. The remaining sister, Mrs. Bower, with whom my father was making his home, died a short time after grandmother. For this reason my father did not know very much about his family history. Father was an excellent mechanic, was the inventor of one of the first washing machines. He also invented a nut-locking device, which was used by the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Through the kindness of Mrs. Eby, who is the surviving daughter of John Noblet, the only son of Grandfather Noblet by his first wife, I have this information to give you. My grandfather, William Noblet's, first wife was Miss Margaret Thompson, from near Philadelphia, by whom he had two children, a daughter who died in infancy, and a son, John, who married Mary Straw and had five children, of whom Uriah J. and Rachel, who married the late William Eby, survive. John Noblet in early boyhood visited his mother's parents near Philadelphia, when his grandmother presented him with a large Bible, still in the possession of his granddaughter. John Noblet was born in Philadelphia and served in Captain Smith's company in the War of 1812.

I herewith return to you the enclosed sent by you some time ago; I have referred this matter to my sister, Mrs. Leebrick, who communicated with one of our cousins in Ohio, but, as all their parents are dead, they did not have anything new to add to what I have already reported to you. I have inserted in red ink what I could to complete the record.

Copy of the enclosure mentioned in the foregoing letter:

William Noblit, second son of John Noblit of Middletown, Aston and Ridley townships, Delaware county, Penna., removed to Halifax township, Dauphin county, in 1793. He died in 1820 or 1821. Married, first, Margaret Thompson of near Philadelphia, and had, John, and a daughter who died in infancy. He married, second, Eva Wilt of Dauphin county and by her had: Elizabeth, Sarah, Joseph, William, Thomas, Adam, Robert, George and Samuel. Of these children, Sarah, William, Thomas, Adam, Robert and George, removed to Crawford county, Ohio, in the vicinity of Bucyrus and Galion.

From letter of I. CALVIN NOBLET, Fisherville, Penna., September 13, 1904.

Your letter addressed to my former home (5136 Malcolm Street, Philadelphia), has been forwarded to me. I am the son of U. J. Noblet and great-great-grandson of the William Noblet mentioned by you. William Noblet's earliest residence was in Delaware County; from there he moved to Lancaster, and then to the vicinity of Halifax, Dauphin County. He had two brothers, Thomas and John, residing near Philadelphia, three or more sisters, but I am unable to name them. He had been married to a Miss Thompson. My father is still living here. He is 78 years of age. Thomas Lebrich, of Halifax, who married a Noblet, has been gathering articles for a family history of the Noblits.

I never heard my father speak of his parents; he was of Dauphin County, Penna. My father was born March 24, 1811; he had some half brothers. My father, George Friar Noblit, had the following brothers: William, Robert, Thomas, Joseph, Adam, and Samuel. They all died here except Joseph and Samuel, who moved away; one of Joseph's sons lives in Caledonia, I think. Uncle Robert has four children living near here, two girls and two boys, all married: Uncle William has two children living, one boy and one girl; the boy lives West somewhere and has a large family; the girl is a widow without children; her sister's son lives with her; her sister, who is dead, had three children, two girls and this boy; the girls are married; her address is Mrs. Sarah Carr, Martel, Ohio. Uncle Adam has two girls living, but I do not know where. Uncle Thomas's children are all dead, but he has two grandchildren living, two girls; one lives at New Winchester and has a large family; one of his sons resides at Galion, Ohio; the other is married and lives in the West; I think he has one son at Galion. I received a letter from Mrs. William Noblit, of Wayne, Penna., who said they were going to move to Ardmore, Montgomery County, Penna. My father's children by his first wife were: Mrs. Laura Jane Noblit Albright, Mrs. Sarah D. Noblit Fisher, Mrs. Pascalena Noblet Stewart, Mrs. Mary Melica Noblet Rhineburg, and Ezekiah Noblit. He had nine children by his second wife, of whom are William, Fred Noblit, a doctor, of Denver, Col.; Allie and Bessie.

My father's brothers and sisters, now deceased, were: Robert, the eldest, who never married; he lived in Philadelphia, on Berks Street, for some years, and was in the tanning business; he went to Amelia Court House, Virginia, and I suppose he is dead. William was married and had a family of eight or nine children; two of them were girls; they are all living but one boy and a girl; they lived in the neighborhood of the Gulf, in Montgomery County, Penn. My father's sister Mary married a man by name of Thompson, and had seven children, five girls and two boys, all living but one boy, some in Philadelphia, and a boy in Coatesville, Chester County, Penna. My father died in March of this year.

There seems to have been two sets of children, as a half sister of my father's came to see him some years ago, but I do not know her name; she must be dead. I do not know whether it was my grandmother or grandfather that married twice. The Noblits you mention, living in the upper part of Radnor Township, Delaware County, are the children of William Noblit, my father's brother. James R. Noblit, living at Royersford, Montgomery County, Penna., is a connection; he has a brother Harry, who was on the police force in the Sixth Ward, Philadelphia, for a number of years, and a brother Joseph, who lives in New Jersey; their father lived in Montgomery County, at Conshohocken, for a number of years; he died about twelve or fifteen years ago; they may be descendants of William Noblit.

Dell Noblit, of Wilmington, Delaware.

DELL NOBLIT, of Wilmington, Delaware (son of John, of Ridley, and grandson of William, of Middletown), born in Aston Township, Delaware County, Pennsylvania, October 19, 1777; died January 21, 1878. Married, first, Christ Church, Philadelphia, April 2, 1801, Elizabeth Wiall, who died August 27, 1811; married, second, December 31, 1812, Elizabeth Bratton, born November 18, 1795; died October, 1869; daughter of James Bratton and Martha McBride, of Brandywine Hundred, New Castle County, Delaware.

The following account of Dell Noblit appeared in The Daily Republican of Wilmington, Delaware, October 19, 1877:

100 YEARS OLD. THE ONE HUNDREDTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE BIRTH OF DELL NOBLIT.

One hundred years includes almost the whole history of our nation, though Independence was declared on the Fourth of July, 1776. This, however, did not end the struggle—indeed it but aggravated it and made it so much the fiercer, and in fifteen months thereafter the clash of arms resounded all over what was then the thirteen original States. In the midst of these troublous times, and with the sound of cannon saluting his ears, the subject of our text was born.

The battle of Brandywine, in the same little County of Delaware in which he was born, had been fought and lost to our patriotic fathers. The region in which the parents of Dell Noblit resided was overrun by hostile feet, as the great army of invaders passed on in their course to the city of Brotherly Love. Then followed the Battle of Germantown and another defeat for the disheartened patriots.

On the 17th of October the great battle of Saratoga was fought, and the whole British army laid down their arms to the intrepid American commander. Five days afterward (22nd) the cannon of Lord Howe was thundering against the mud Fort Mifflin, in Delaware County, within sound of the spot where our hero was born, and who was then but three days old. Verily Dell Noblit is a link, though now but a frail one, between the past and the present. Only think! living yet, the man whose life reaches back to the very midst of the most troublous times of the Revolution.

One hundred years ago, Philadelphia was a city not as large as Wilmington, and Wilmington but a village. One hundred years ago, the British occupied Philadelphia, Washington and his army suffered the perils of Valley Forge, and Dell Noblit lay an infant in his mother's arms. One hundred years later, and the infant of the first of our Nation's history is the aged and honored centenarian of to-day. How the mind runs back, but none in our midst can reach so far back as to grasp in both ends of a century and bring together in a grand circle one hundred years of a Nation a little over one hundred and one years of age.

The subject of our sketch, Mr. Dell Noblit, who to-day passes into the second century of his life, and whose one hundred and first anniversary is so appropriately being celebrated, was born on the 19th of October, 1777, in Middletown Township, Delaware County, Pa., about seven miles from Brandywine battle-ground, at Chadd's Ford, the battle having been fought five weeks and two days before his birth.

Residing amongst stirring incidents of our Nation's earliest history, he yet lives and talks intelligently of the troublous times which followed the birth of our Nation.

He is of French Huguenot origin, his ancestors being among those who fled from France to the North of Ireland to escape the persecution of Charles IX, at the time of the St. Bartholomew massacre, 1572.

When the Swedish Colony was being organized, and they had selected the shores of the Delaware River as their place of settlement, his paternal ancestor was among the first to leave Ireland and unite with them. He located himself in what is now Middletown Township, Delaware County, Pa.*

In conversation with Mr. Noblit, a few evenings ago, he informed a representative of the "Republican," that the matter of choosing his first name became a matter of discussion among his friends, and it was finally decided that he should be called "Dell," out of respect to an influential lady in Delaware County, named Mary Dell Pennell. This information Mr. Noblit obtained from his mother, of whom he delights to talk.

*This sketch contains a number of errors. The Swedish settlements on the Delaware were made from 1638 to 1644. Dell Noblit's ancestor referred to (William Noblit, of Middletown), did not settle in Pennsylvania until about 1729. See page 165.

It is interesting to sit and listen to him telling what his mother told him, thus carrying the mind back far beyond the century.

Mr. Noblit, in his youth, learned the trade of cabinet making with Philip Painter, in the Borough of Chester, and subsequently worked at it in the City of New York, one of his distant recollections of that period of his life now being that he was there during a visitation of yellow fever, in 1795. Three years later he had removed to Germantown, Pa., and while there he cast his first vote for Thomas Jefferson, for President.

Mr. Noblit informs us that while working at his trade in Philadelphia, he had become a very proficient workman, and having conceived the idea of removing to Wilmington, his boss kept him working on what are now the old-fashioned sideboards, and as he could not leave and get his wages until they were finished, he had several under way at the same time. But as soon as he got the sideboards finished that he had on hand, he removed to Wilmington, arriving here in 1810.

Mr. Noblit, in 1801, in the 24th year of his age, was married to Elizabeth Wiall, of Philadelphia, by whom he had three children, Stephen, Hamilton, and Margaret, all now dead. After ten years of wedded life his wife died, August 27th, 1811, and after remaining a widower over a year, he married Elizabeth Bratton, of Brandywine Hundred. By this union he had thirteen children, only six of whom are now living, three sons and three daughters.

THE SONS.

John, Dell, Jr., and Joseph C., are amongst the very considerable number of energetic and prosperous men of business who have gone to Philadelphia from Delaware. They are connected with the well-known firms of D. & J. Noblit, and Noblit, Brown, Noblit & Co. The three daughters are Louisa J. C., wife of Rev. E. C. Murray, of the Church of the Covenant, Philadelphia; Maria L., wife of Gregg Chandler, Esq., of this city, and Eliza R., widow of John S. Likens, who also resides in Wilmington. Of grandchildren the old gentleman has had forty-five, twenty-seven of whom are living; thirty-eight great-grandchildren, of whom twenty-seven survive, and there have been, even to the fifth generation, two great-great-grandchildren. One of his granddaughters is the wife of United States Marshal Dunn.

When Mr. Noblit removed to Wilmington, he became employed at his trade in the cabinet maker's shop of George Whitelock, in a frame building, standing where the drug store of Mr. Belt now stands (formerly Bringham & Co.), at the northwest corner of Sixth and Market Streets.

While working here, Mr. Noblit said he often used to look over to the corner where he now resides, which was then a cow yard, and wish that he owned it.

Being industrious and frugal in habits, he soon acquired a sufficiency beyond keeping his large and growing family, to enable him to purchase the long-wished-for corner, then a cow-pen, from Samuel Canby, for $1,900, upon which he erected buildings, and he has resided there for over sixty years, his residence being in the rear of his furniture store, now occupied by Emile Bucher as a tobacco store and cigar manufactory.

In conversation he refers to looking out of the shop windows upon the lots of corn all around Sixth and Market Streets, the main part of the town below Fourth Street, and Whitelock's shop being considered in the suburbs. The City Hall was thought to be a considerable distance up town.

Mr. Noblit, in pursuing the even tenor of his way, has lived frugally and temperately, avoiding liquor and tobacco. It has been his uniform practice to go to bed at 9 o'clock in the evening, and another rule, carefully observed, has been to observe extreme moderation in the quantity of his food. He informed us that until two years ago he had not taken a physic or medicine for sixty years. A smile spread over his countenance as he told us how two years ago he stepped across to Mrs. Thomas's trimming store on Shipley Street, and how he was bragging to her that for sixty years he had not taken medicine, and that very day he was taken sick and had to take some medicine.

In the years of his more active life,* Mr. Noblit was one of the wardens of St. Andrew's P. E. Church, where for a long time he had been a communicant, and regularly every Sunday, until within the present year, to be found amongst the congregation. One of his sons, James B. Noblit, was a minister in the Protestant

* Dell Noblit was one of the organizers of St. Andrew's Church and a member of the vestry for a number of years. (See Scharf's History of Delaware, page 708.)

Episcopal Church, and died in the ministry. He remains still quite able to go about, but manifests less inclination to do so than formerly, since he has found his eye-sight slowly failing—a fact that causes him lively concern. His hearing is still acute, and his social inclinations strong; nothing is more agreeable to him than a chat with old friends over the affairs of by-gone times. He says he remembers very well when it was common to go gunning for reed birds on the ground which is now French Street.

A reception will be held at Mr. Noblit's this afternoon, to which cards of invitation have been issued, but many of his old personal friends have been going and coming all day. He looks remarkably well, and is dressed in a new black cloth reception suit, made in the best of style by L. Taylor Woodrow, one of his tenants. He is somewhat fatigued by so many goers and comers, but grows quite animated as he receives the compliments of his many friends. The reception room is very tastefully festooned and hung with flags. Bucher, already referred to as occupying the corner store, has made a large display of flags, amongst which is the German flag.

Mr. Woodrow has his tailor store beautifully festooned and decorated with flags. He has entered into the spirit of the occasion with all his heart, as there are not many tailors who can say that they made a new cloth suit for a centenarian.

King & Taylor, who have a tobacco and cigar store on Sixth Street, have also gone to considerable pains in decorating their store.

The Valentine Brothers, who occupy the basement on the corner as a barber saloon, are not behind their fellow tenants in their decorations. All these persons named are tenants of Mr. Noblit.

The Delaware Fire Company, with which Mr. Noblit affiliated, have their engine house decorated with flags and thrown across Sixth Street. The members at noon to-day fired a salute of 100 guns in honor of their centenarian member.

of William Noblit, of Middletown

MARY PARK, the first wife of William Noblit, of Middletown, and evidently the mother of all his children, was the daughter of Arthur and Mary Park. The following account of the Park family appears in volume I, page 597, of the Genealogical and Personal Memoirs of Chester and Delaware Counties:

"The family is of Scotch-Irish origin, and the first of the name to come to this country was Arthur Parke, a native of Ballybagly,* county Donegal, Ireland, who was accompanied by his wife, Mary Parke and four children, Joseph, John, Samuel and a daughter who married William Noblett. They settled in Chester county, Penna., prior to the year 1724 and took by warrant an extensive tract of land lying along the limestone road in West Fallowfield Township, near where the town of Parkesburg now stands. It was largely through his instrumentality that the Octoraro Presbyterian Church was established, and his remains were interred there in February 1740. His real estate was divided between his two sons, Joseph taking the southern and John the northern part."

JOHN NOBLIT (believed to have been a brother of William Noblit, of Middletown) was a taxable in Newtown Township, Chester County, Pennsylvania, from 1729 to 1735. He and his wife Ann joined in membership with the religious Society of Friends* of Newtown Meeting, Second month 18th, 1737, and removed the same year to the new settlement of Newberry,† in York (then Lancaster) County, Pennsylvania. A certificate of their membership was sent by Goshen Monthly Meeting of Friends, held Fifth month 17th, 1738, to Sadsbury Monthly Meeting of Lancaster County, which certificate stated that John and Ann Noblit had removed some time previously. This certificate was not produced at Sadsbury Meeting until Fourth month 2d, 1740.

John and Ann Noblit were witnesses to the marriage of Robert Hodgkin and Theodate Seal, Fifth month 29th, 1740; this was the first Quaker wedding in what is now York County.‡ John Noblit died intestate, and letters of administration were granted to his widow, at Lancaster, October 4, 1748. Ann, widow of John Noblit, married James Brown, * Commonly called Quakers.

† "The founding of the Sadsbury settlements initiated that westward migration of Friends which during the several succeeding decades moved across Lancaster County to the west side of the Susquehanna and gave rise to the meetings in that part of the County which in 1749 became York County. Newberry Meeting, during its first three or four years called Manchester Meeting, was included in Manchester Township, until in 1742 with the organization of Newberry Township it fell in the latter. The first settlers came from the meetings in southern Chester County and New Castle County and presented their certificates of removal to Sadsbury Monthly Meeting." who was not a member of the Society of Friends; for this breach of the Friends' discipline she was disowned by Warrington Monthly Meeting * in 1750. It would appear that Ann Noblit was reinstated in membership, for, having applied to Warrington Meeting in 1762 for a certificate of removal to Cane Creek Meeting, in North Carolina, the same was signed for her in 1763.

Children of John and Ann Noblit, of Newberry, York County:

1. Abraham Noblit, eldest son, died in Newberry Township, York County, Pennsylvania, in 1764, without issue. He married Ann Rankin, a widow, who died (will proved) in 1796, leaving a number of children by her former husband; see wills following. In 1750 Abraham Noblit was licensed to keep an inn, in Newberry, and from that time until and including the year 1760. He was a Justice of the Peace and Judge of the Courts of York County, appearing as a Judge of the Orphans' Court from 1761 to 1763.
2. Thomas Noblit, enlisted during the French and Indian War, as appears by his acknowledgment made at Warrington Monthly Meeting in 1756. In 1760 he seems to have removed from York County. ## LETTERS OF DESCENDANTS OF THE NORTH CAROLINA BRANCH.

Letter of S. B. GRANT, Jeter, N. C., August 25, 1904.

Dr. William Noblitt, Old Fort, N. C., can tell you more of the Noblitt family than anyone else; he is eighty-four years old. I think his grandfather was John Noblitt, who came from Pennsylvania.

Letter of ENOCH C. NOBLITT, Tiger, N. C., September 8, 1904.

Letters of JAMES L. NOBLITT, Gage, N. C.

September 14, 1904.—My grandfather came from Pennsylvania. His name was John, and he had a brother Joseph, and probably a sister Mary, who left this country; I do not know where they went, and have no dates to show when they came here. There are Noblitts in Bedford County, Tennessee, but I do not know where they come from.

February 7, 1905.—Your statement must be correct about my grandfather, as best I can get. Dr. W. B. Noblitt, of Old Fort, N. C., is my cousin. I saw him. He saw his grandfather, but could not tell much about him. All the Noblitts in this country are of the same ancestor. The old records of Burke County were burned, so I have nothing but tradition to go by.

Letter of REV. FRANK B. NOBLITT, Hot Springs, N. C.
October 6, 1904.

Having read a letter from you, addressed to my grandfather, Dr. William B. Noblitt, at Old Fort, N. C., I take this opportunity to answer, as he is up in the eighties and is too feeble to write. The John Noblitt you spoke of is my grandfather's grandfather, and he came to Western North Carolina and entered land in the mountains in 1790-1807. He came from Chatham County, N. C., which is central Carolina; he had a brother in Virginia and another who went to Georgia; they came south from your section and claim to have been the sixth generation. Ann is still a family name. We have relations in Rutherford County, N. C., and quite a number in McDowell County, around Old Fort, N. C. The most of the Noblitts are farmers ; a few are merchants ; I am a Methodist preacher, and am now pastor of Hot Springs circuit. John Noblitt was a deputy sheriff, but McDowell County was then a part of Burke County ; so all his records are filed at Morgantown, N. C. John Noblitt's daughter, Nancy, lived to be ninety-eight years old, and I have heard her repeat things her father did, many times. My father lives in sight of John Noblitt's old house, which fell down two years ago. We own part of his farm.

Letter of REV. FRANK B. NOBLITT, of Bryson City, N. C., dated November 25, 1904.

I have made all the investigations I could for you in my home vicinity of Old Fort, N. C. I did not find much that will aid you. I find that all the old records in Morgantown were destroyed in time of the Civil War. I am told that there is a piece of an old record there containing wills in which John Noblitt's will is recorded. I did not know that until I left Morgantown. It was produced in the McDowel Court at Marion in a land suit some years ago. McDowel County, where we live, was not cut off of Burke County until 1842. It is not possible to get dates, as there are none recorded. No one knows the counties of Virginia and Georgia to which the brothers of John Noblitt went.

If Merritt C. Noblitt cannot give or find out anything of Samuel Noblit, I cannot tell you where to search. He has been sheriff and is advancing in years, and it seems that as he resides in the Spartanburgh vicinity it would be possible for him to look his record up. Grandfather, Dr. William B., is feeble ; I spent the day with him. I send you some old receipts which were swept out after John Noblitt's daughter Nancy died and the old house abandoned.

I thank you for the photograph of the Black Horse Hotel. Please return these old papers or receipts to me. I prize them very much. They show you dates and different spellings of the name. I am very glad that you are taking so much interest in our family; I shall be glad to keep in touch with, and will aid you in any way I may be able. I am stationed at Bryson City this year.

Letter of MRS. J. C. TAYLOR, Otter Creek, N. C., October 7, 1904.

Your letter addressed to Martin Harris, Gilkey, N. C., was sent to me by him. I think that S. Mitchell, of Otter Creek, Rutherford County, N. C., will be able to furnish you all information desired, as he married a daughter of Joseph Noblitt, who came from Chatham County; he is 81 years of age.

Letters of THOMAS J. NOBLITT, Asheville, N. C.

October 24, 1904.—There are, I think, two branches of the Noblitt family in North Carolina; there is also another branch of the name in Bedford County, Tennessee; two of these are Manning and Tolbert Noblitt, of Flat Creek, Tennessee. There are three distinct generations in the two States. I cannot get the names of any of those at Wilmington, N. C. I have been told that our ancestor emigrated from Germany.

November 1, 1904.—There is a very numerous family of Noblitts here in Western North Carolina. I have no traditions as to when our ancestor settled in this State. I am only thirty years old, and have never made much inquiry as to our ancestry.

Letter from C. P. TANNER, Clerk of the Superior Court of Rutherford County, N. C. Rutherfordton, N. C.,
September 15, 1904.

I have searched the record of deeds for the name of Noblitt and find that the first deed recorded was made to Joseph Noblitt in 1860; from that date I find the name of James Noblitt, M. C. Noblitt, James L. Noblitt, John C. Noblitt, Sophia Noblitt and W. C. Noblitt; I find the names of Joseph and James several times. I searched the marriage records and find the first marriage license was issued to M. W. Noblitt in 1885, one to E. C. Noblitt the same year, to John C. Noblitt in 1886; to William M., 1889, Spencer Noblitt, 1894, and W. L. Noblitt, 1895. The oldest land record in the name is 1860, and the oldest marriage 1885, which looks as if very likely they came to this country about 1860. I have talked to some of the old people, who tell me that they do not remember the name earlier than that time. Some say they think the Noblitts of this county came from McDowell County; they live now mostly along the McDowell County line. Dr. Noblitt, of Old Fort, is in that county.

LETTERS FROM DESCENDANTS OF THE SOUTH CAROLINA BRANCH.

Letters of MERRET C. NOBLITT, Saxian Mill, Spartanburg
Junction, S. C.

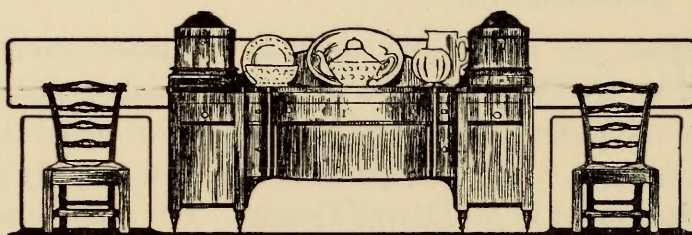

August 30, 1904.—My great-grandfather came from England under the protection of a Mr. Chatham, and married his daughter and started the Noblitt generation in North Carolina, where Chatham County now is. My grandfather was raised in McDowell County. His name was John Noblitt. He had six children, four sons and two daughters. My father, Joseph Noblitt, had ten children, five sons and five daughters.

January 13, 1905.—I have been waiting to see one of the old settlers to learn more of Samuel Noblitt's family, but he did not know very much of Samuel; was acquainted with him, but does not know any of Samuel's sons' names. If I am not mistaken, my great-grandfather came to this country from Pennsylvania. You may secure some information from Manning Noblitt and Dr. Jasper Noblitt, of Flat Creek, Bedford County, Tennessee. I had a nephew in the cavalry service at New Orleans; he has been in the service about twenty-five years; he may know more of the family. There are many Noblitts in the western country that I do not know the names of. My nephew in New Orleans may know. His name is J. M. Noblitt.

Letter of W. M. NOBLITT, Birmingham, Alabama, October 4, 1904.

My father, Merret Noblitt, lives at Spartanburg. Uncle James Noblitt is living in North Carolina.

LETTERS FROM DESCENDANTS OF THE TENNESSEE BRANCH.

Letter of M. G. NOBLITT, Flat Creek, Route No. 2, Tennessee, November 3, 1904.

My grandfather, William Noblitt, was from North Carolina. He first settled in Bedford County, Tennessee. I do not know the year. He, with his two sons, William and Joshua, removed about fifty years ago; I do not remember them. My father, John Noblitt, and his brother Abraham, continued in Tennessee. They married sisters, daughters of David Rozier, and raised families, only two of each family living. Father died October 28, 1875; Abraham died before I was born. His son, J. M. Noblitt, of McKinnie, Texas, and a daughter, Harriet Mediris, resides at 1002 Woodland Street, Nashville, Tennessee. My brother, D. T. Noblitt, and I are the last of my father's family. We live on adjoining farms. My brother is sixty-nine years of age and has four sons and two daughters living. I live on the old home place, and have four children—a daughter, aged seven years, and three sons, aged twelve years, nine years, and eight months respectively. My father had two other sons and one daughter, who raised families; each son had two daughters and one son. The daughter had one daughter; the two sons were my elder brothers; the widow of the eldest (J. D. Noblitt), with two little girls, and one daughter survive; the other brother, William H. Noblitt, went to Texas in 1861, was in the war, wounded and subsequently died of the effect, leaving a widow, two daughters and a baby boy, now

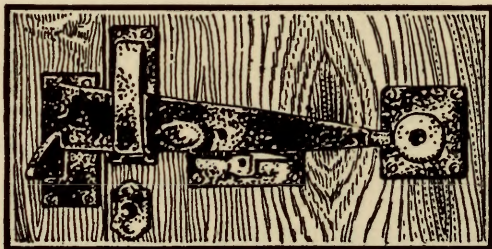

Professor W. T. Noblitt, of Kerrville, Texas. There are other Noblitts here who are related to us, but I am unable to trace the connection. I have a tenant on my farm who is the son of J. H. Noblitt, who died three years ago, leaving four brothers who still live in adjoining counties.

LETTERS FROM DESCENDANTS OF THE VIRGINIA BRANCH.*

Data received from JAMES L. NOBLITT, ex-Superintendent of Public Schools, Stamper's Creek, Orange County, Indiana. Communicated by E. J. NOBLET, of Chicago, September 29, 1904.

I have no data save the memory of what I have heard my father and uncles tell. My father was William, son of Abraham, and grandson of John Noblitt, who was a native of Virginia, and it is said that his ancestors came from Ireland. Early in the nineteenth century he removed with his family to the present Henry County, Kentucky, where he died. Of his family I know of but three sons, William, Jacob and Abraham; they came to Orange County, Indiana. My grandfather, Abraham Noblitt, married Amelia Vandever in 1814, and soon after removed to Washington County, Indiana, thence to Orange in 1830, where he died in 1840. He reared a family of three sons and two daughters, who, with the exception of the younger son, John T. Noblitt, of Valeene, Indiana, are dead; they all died in Orange County. Vandever and William Noblitt, sons of Abraham, lived to old age, each leaving a family residing here. William Noblitt, brother of Abraham, was a Baptist minister, who came to Orange County about 1825, and thence to Martin County, Indiana, where he died; some of his descendants live in Bartholomew County, this State. Jacob Noblitt died in Orange County. He left two sons and one daughter: Van Rensalie, eldest son of Jacob Noblitt, lived to old age and died in Orange County; he had no children. Hugh Noblitt lived to old age, rearing a family, who reside here; he died in Orange County. Woodson, grandson of John and son of William Noblitt, came to Orange County about 1838; he died soon after, leaving one son, Woodson, who resides here and who has a son, a physician, in Honolulu, Sandwich Islands. Dr. Frank Noblitt, a grandson of John, lived in Orange County about 1840; he went to Martin County, Indiana, where he practiced for many years. After the Civil War he removed to Kansas.

Communication from J. A. CAMPBELL, Orangeville, Indiana, received through letter of E. J. NOBLETT, of Chicago, October 15, 1904.

The following is a brief history of the family of Van R. Noblitt, received from J. A. Campbell, of Orangeville, Ind.: Thomas Noblitt's wife was Mary King; he resided in Grayson County, Virginia, in 1822 and some time previous to that date; do not know when he died. He had sons, Abraham, David, John, Isaac and Jacob; do not know whether there were any daughters. Jacob Noblitt, youngest son of Thomas Noblitt, born September 15, 1781, married Levina, daughter of Malon and Phœbe (Webster) Collins. This family moved from Grayson County, Virginia, in the autumn of 1822, to Lawrence County, Indiana, and in a short time moved to Orange County, Indiana, where they made their permanent home; were the parents of the following children: Pauline, born March 15, 1807; Martha, born February 1, 1809; Louisa, born March 17, 1811; Van Rensalia, born March 10, 1813; Seneca, born September 13, 1815; Hugh, born June 1, 1818; Celia, born February 18, 1821; Rebecca Ann Liza, born March 20, 1824. Jacob died October 18, 1856; his wife died August 15, 1858. All deceased.

Van R. Noblitt moved to this State with his parents in 1822, he being only nine years of age at that time; as stated above, he was born March 10, 1813, in Grayson County, Virginia, near Grayson Court House, now Independence; he was married to Caroline M. Campbell, December 2, 1847; she died February 16, 1902. Van R. Noblitt's grandfather, I understand, was one of Washington's aides in the Revolutionary War.

SUMMARY OF COMMUNICATION FROM J. A. CAMPBELL, AS ABOVE.

Thomas Noblitt, born September 15, 1781, married Mary King; resided in Grayson County, Virginia, in 1813 or earlier; had: Abraham, David, John, Isaac and Jacob. Jacob married Levina Collins, and had: Paulina, Martha, Louisa, Celia, Seneca, Hugh, Rebecca Ann Liza and Van Rensalia, who married Caroline M. Campbell.

Letter from ISAAC L. NOBLETT, Fries, Grayson County, Virginia. Dated March 10, 1905.

My grandfather was from Ireland. He located in the northeast. His name was Thomas. My father's name was William. I have an uncle named John in Indiana, and another uncle named Isaac at the Black Hill. I have an old Bible at home that will give the history of the family for one hundred years. I will get it when I go home and write to you again and send all I can collect of the family history. My father has told me that his grandfather was named Abram, and he had an uncle by the name of David. (Mr. Noblett wrote from Pulaski City, Va.)

Letter from WINFIELD S. NOBLET, Story, Indiana. Dated April 12, 1906.

I am the postmaster at Story. I am the son of Levi Noblet, who was born in Virginia, near the Cumberland Mountains, at a place called the Cumberland Gap. My father was one of twins; the other child's name was Eli; the latter died when about nine years of age. My grandfather died when my father was three years old. My father's mother married one Thomas Kinworthy. To this union two sons and one daughter were born. The family moved from Virginia when my father was about twenty-five years of age to Indiana, and settled two miles south of Brownstown, the seat of Jackson County. About the same time my father married his first wife, by whom he had eight daughters and one son. My father's first wife died about 1850, after which he married my mother and had two sons and one daughter; I am the oldest child of this second marriage, having been born in 1854. My father died January 24, 1871, aged 72 years.

I am not acquainted with the Noblets of Orange County, but have heard of them. There are several of my relatives in Bartholomew County, whose history I know nothing of; neither do I know my grandfather's given name. My father was above the average size; he weighed one hundred and ninety or two hundred pounds, walked erect, had auburn hair, deep blue eyes; a good joker, fond of company, had a good voice, and was a splendid singer. Anything you may know of the history of this family would be thankfully received.

August 13, 1904.—I am a descendant of James Noblit, who settled in Conshohocken, Montgomery County, Penn.

Letter of JOSEPH NOBLIT, of Wenonah, New Jersey.

August 24, 1904.—There seem to be more Noblits in this country than I ever understood; I did not know of a Samuel or a Richard; it may be that the Montgomery County family may be through one of these lines. So far as I know, my grandfather, James, and his brother, Joseph, were born in 1767 or 1769. Back of that I know nothing.

Letter of DANIEL NOBLIT, of Flourtown, Montgomery County, Penna., September 19, 1904.

Letters of JAMES R. NOBLIT, of Royersford, Montgomery County, Penna.

September 19, 1904.—James and Joseph Noblit, brothers, lived just back of Conshohocken, about 1750 or 1760. Joseph had a son John, and James had two sons, Joseph and Thomas. William Noblit, shoemaker, deceased, lived at or near Morgan's Corner. He had a numerous family. He had a brother James. I think their father was from Delaware.

September 20, 1904.—Regarding William Noblit, of Morgan's Corner, I thought perhaps some of his children still lived there; but now I would suggest that you write to Charles Noblit, 4527 North Forty-fifth Street, Philadelphia; his father and William were brothers. A family of Noblits live in Manayunk, but I do not know their first names.

Letters from SAMUEL C. NOBLETTE, 1223 North Nineteenth Street, Philadelphia.

August 9, 1904.—Unfortunately I possess no data of any consequence, and very little knowledge of my ancestry. I am the only son of William Boyd Noblette, who was born in Wilmington, Delaware, September 12, 1823. I do not know his father's name, as he died when my father was eight years old, about 1830. My father had a brother Isaac, now deceased, who lived at Chestertown, Maryland. I knew him. I was born September 21, 1858, in Philadelphia, and was married in 1880 to Ada K. Vandergrift. We have two children, William Boyd, born March 17, 1881, and Samuel Coates, born March 25, 1884. Father also had an elder sister. The family came from Wilmington, I am quite sure. I recall the name of Enoch Moore and the Barnards as relatives who visited us from Wilmington.

August 15, 1904.—I am convinced, from information I have received, that my paternal grandfather was Samuel Noblet, and possibly it was he who was buried in old St. Andrew's Church, Wilmington.

---

Letter of MRS. NOBLET, 156 Palmetto Street, Brooklyn, New York, September 4, 1904.

I have heard my late husband speak of relatives he had, years ago, but I am unable to give you any information of them now; I have a brother-in-law on the other side, to whom I could write.

Letter of ANN NOBLIT, 577 Grand Street, New York, September 9, 1904.

My husband, John Noblit, came from England; we were married in 1875. He died three years later. He left a brother, William, in England, of whom I have a picture.

Letter of E. J. NOBLETT, Chicago, Illinois, September 8, 1904.

The account that I have been able to gather was from Thomas Noblett, Jr., my father's brother, and is as follows: His father's ancestors were French Huguenots and settled in the north of Ireland the latter part of the sixteenth century. His father's name was Thomas Noblett, who married twice and had fourteen children. The first wife's name he does not remember; the second wife was Miss Elizabeth Hannan, who raised the following children: Thomas, John, Joseph, George, William, Richard, Rachel, Martha, Susanna and Sarah. Thomas Noblett and his second wife died within a few years of each other, when William (my father) was about fourteen years old. The family was divided soon after, George going to Balleratt, Australia; John to the United States, locating at Buffalo, New York, and William to the same place a few years later. My father married in Buffalo in 1855, and came to Chicago in 1856, where he resided until his death, March 17, 1901. He had the following children: Edward, William T., Rachel, Josephine, George and Hugh; the three latter died some years ago. Thomas, Jr., located at Philadelphia for a few years and then moved to Chicago. He had one child, Susanna, who died shortly after marriage, without issue. Thomas, Jr., and wife died a few years after. John died at Buffalo and left one daughter, I believe, of whom I have no trace. Susanna married a Mr. Smith and located, I think, at Melbourne, Australia. Richard and one of the other children remained at home on the old estate, where some of their descendants are living. My father and his people were born and raised at a place called Hackettstown, county Carlow, Ireland. All his people that I have seen have a sandy complexion. A few years ago William Noblett, a young man, aged about twenty, called on me. He is the son of a Richard Noblett, of Dublin, Ireland. I am inclined to think that his father was the son of my uncle Richard; the last I knew this young man was living here. There was another Noblett located here a few years ago. He has disappeared, however, and I do not know where he was from.

Letter of W. J. NOBLITT, Chicago, Illinois, September 13, 1904.

My home is in Dublin, Ireland, and my father's people came from the county Wexford and Wicklow. I have no relatives in America that I know of. My father died when I was five years old. My uncles are all dead. My mother is living. I think the family came to Ireland from France, after the massacre of St. Bartholomew.
